CHICAGO, IL August, 2011 – The 57th Street Children's Book Fair, a renowned independent book fair that celebrates the love of reading and childhood, announces the theme for this year's 25th Anniversary event.

In celebration of 25 years of reading and family fun, this year's theme is:

In conjunction with this theme, vendors will have a selection of graphic novels and comic books, and several participants will engage children and families in thematic activities.

The Book Fair is happy to have First Aid Comics on 53rd Street joining us this year, as well as other neighborhood newcomers such as Robust Coffee Lounge on 63rd Street. As usual, some of everyone's favorite museums and cultural institutions will be on hand, as well as book vendors from all over the city.

The book fair takes place on 57th Street between Dorchester and Kimbark Avenues and on Kimbark Avenue between 57th and 56th Streets. Kick-off begins with a parade at 1pm. Performers, vendors, and activities take place until 6pm. The 57th Children Book Fair is accessible by public transportation and is free and open to the public.
